Course Descriptions for Spring Semester 2024 Classes Sami Wilson:

Clinical Field Experience I MSW 682 Spring 2024

The purpose of this course is to address and process issues and experiences from the student's field placement experiences. Students develop critical reflections of their placement sites and also on their developing skills and identities as social workers.

The course integrates past and current program curriculum content, including theoretical perspectives and relevant policy concerns. Students engage in case consultation addressing both clinical and systems issues encountered during placement

Spirituality in Clinical Social Work

MSW 665

This course examines the experience and the role of spirituality and religious traditions in clinical social work practice with client systems. The course considers the spiritual and religious contexts shaping assessment and intervention processes in clinical social work services and examines the ways that faith traditions and spiritual experiences shape clients' and professionals' lives, and the points of connection they form with the delivery of clinical social work services.
