A User’s Guide to County Financial Statements

The following definitions will help citizens understand the terminology that is used in the county’s financial statement.

Basic Financial Statements

Goodhue County’s basic financial statements consist of three parts: government-wide financial statements, fund financial statements, and notes to the financial statements. The management’s discussion and analysis and certain budgetary comparison schedules are required to accompany the basic financial statements, and therefore, are included as required supplementary information.

Government-wide financial statements display information about the county’s financial reporting entity as a whole, including its component units. Information is included for all funds except for fiduciary-type activities.

Fund financial statements display separate financial information for the county’s governmental, proprietary, and fiduciary funds. Information for governmental funds is presented separately for major funds and in aggregate total for non-major funds. Fiduciary fund information is presented in aggregate by fund type.

Notes to the financial statements provide additional information and disclosure for information in the financial statements.

Governmental activities are generally activities of the county financed through taxes, intergovernmental revenues, and other non-exchange revenues. These activities are usually reported in governmental funds.

Financial reporting entity consists of the primary government (county), organizations for which the county is financially accountable and other organizations for which the nature and significance of their relationship with the county are such that exclusion would cause the reporting entity’s financial statements to be misleading or incomplete. The nucleus of a county’s financial reporting entity is the primary government, the county.

Primary Government is a term used in connection with defining the financial reporting entity. The primary government is the focus of the financial reporting entity. For the county, the primary government represents the financial activities, funds, or accounts directly under the control of the county board.

Component Unit describes a legally separate organization for which the county board is financially accountable. In addition, component units can be other organizations for which the nature and significance of their relationship with the county are such that exclusion would cause the reporting entity’s financial statements to be misleading or incomplete.

County Governmental Fund Types

The General Fund is the general operating fund of the county. It is used to account for all financial resources except those that are required to be accounted for in another fund.

Special Revenue Funds are used to account for the proceeds of specific revenue sources that are legally restricted for specified purposes.

Debt Service Funds are used to account for the accumulation of resources for, and the payment of principal, interest, and related costs of general long-term debt.

County Fiduciary Funds

Fiduciary Funds are used to account for assets held by the county as an agent for individuals, private organizations, or other governments. These assets cannot be used to support the county’s own activities.

Character Classification of County Expenditures

The county’s governmental expenditures are classified by character, or the period’s expenditures are presumed to benefit. The county has the following character classifications:

Current operating expenditures are presumed to benefit the current fiscal period.

Debt service is presumed to benefit prior fiscal periods as well as current and future periods and includes amount expended for the payment of principal, interest and other costs associated with debt.

Intergovernmental represents resources transferred by the county to other governments.
